New York, NY - SeniorBridge, a provider of professional care services for individuals and families requiring continuous, high-quality care for long-term health conditions, has announced the opening of an office in White Plains.

Clinical research has shown that this approach can lead to reduced emergency room visits, a greater likelihood of remaining at home, improvements in self-care and mobility, as well as peace of mind for family members.

"We are looking forward to joining the Westchester community to improve the lives of those with chronic health concerns," said Luppi. SeniorBridge services are especially beneficial to those with Alzheimer's disease and long-term or multiple illnesses."
